

I am a congestive heart patient..answering unwanted calls is very tiring. The consumer must have a say in what calls that should be received not only for the convenience of the consumer but for health issues also.